3. Working Groups

- 3.1 The responsibilities of each Commission are set out in Article 2, however there are some areas within their portfolio that are either of interest to, or directly impact the work of, other Commissions. In this case, the Lead Commission (i.e. the Commission that has the primary responsibility for those regulations) must form a Working Group, by inviting other Commissions to contribute to the proposals.
- 3.2 When forming the Working Group, the Lead Commission Chairman will define the scope of the Working Group, and having identified which other Commissions have an interest, invite the Chairmen of those other Commissions to nominate up to two members of their Commission to take part. The nominated members should be people with a specific interest and expertise in the field.

- 3.3 At the conclusion of the work, the members of each Working Group will report back to their own Commissions with the outputs from the Working Group. The Commission may approve or propose amendments to each output. The proposals will be taken back to the Working Group.
- 3.4 The Working Group shall continue to work until such time as each of the Commissions approves their outputs.
- 3.5 The Lead Commission will send the outputs to the FIDE Management Board for approval.
- 3.6 The FIDE Management Board may, from time-to-time, set up a Working Group. They will appoint someone to assume the responsibilities of the Lead Commission Chairman in 3.2. These Working Groups will report directly to the FIDE Management Board, rather than to their own Commissions, and thus Articles 3.3 and 3.4 do not apply.
